Re: *Applications of AT&T Mobility Spectrum LLC and Qualcomm
Incorporated for Consent To Assign or Transfer Control of Lower 700
MHz Band Licenses, WT Docket No. 11-18*

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On August, 8, 2011, the Commission sent a letter to QUALCOMM Incorporated (“Qualcomm”) and AT&T Mobility Spectrum LLC (“AT&T”) (collectively, “Applicants”) indicating that the Commission was evaluating the relationship between the Applicants’ proposed transaction and AT&T’s proposed acquisition of T-Mobile.¹ The letter also indicated that the Commission was considering them in a coordinated manner and that, given that interdependence, the Commission was stopping the informal 180-day transaction clock.

AT&T has now withdrawn the T-Mobile applications and the Commission formally granted dismissal of those applications last week.² Moreover, a draft item on the proposed transaction between Qualcomm and AT&T is on the Commission’s circulation list. The parties therefore request that the Commission restart the Commission’s informal 180-day transaction clock for the transaction between Qualcomm and AT&T.

² See Letter from Patrick Grant, Counsel for AT&T, and Nancy Victory, Counsel for Deutsche Telekom, to Marlene Dortch, FCC, WT Docket No. 11-65 (Nov. 23, 2011); In the Matter of Applications of AT&T Inc. and Deutsche Telekom AG for Consent to Assign or Transfer Control of Licenses and Authorizations, Order, WT Docket No. 11-65 (rel. Nov. 29, 2011).
